Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments see page 13, paragraph III, filed 7/2/09, with respect to an absence of an English Translation [on the record] for the Taiwan Patent Publication No. 379572Y have been fully considered and are persuasive. The non-final rejection of paper mailed 3/5/09 has been withdrawn. A non-final rejection follows including the missing English Translation of the Drawings relied upon for the Taiwan Publication.

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly submitted claims 100-140 directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: the claims introduces subject matter distinctly directed to different embodiment. For example, "the actuator configured to compensate for a non-constant force of the springs", "at least part of the actuator located below a seat", "at least part of an actuator includes the spiral pulley", "two adjustable arms interconnected by at least one gear", etc..

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 100-140 withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Objections

Claims 9-12, 94-99 are objected to because of the following informalities: It is the Examiner's position that Applicant has evoked sixth paragraph, means-plus-function language to define Applicant's invention. Therefore the Examiner has objected to the claims for the reasons set forth above in the objection to the specification.

Applicant asserts that the claim element "means" is a means (or step) plus function limitation that invokes 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph. However, it is unclear whether the claim element is a means (or step) plus function limitation that invokes 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph, because it is unclear whether the claim limitation is modified by sufficient structure for performing the claimed function or it is unclear whether the corresponding structure is sufficiently disclosed in the written description of the specification. If applicant wishes to have the claim limitation treated under 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph, applicant is required to:

- (a) Amend the claim to include the phrase "means for" or "step for" in accordance with these guidelines: the phrase "means for" or "step for" must be modified by functional language and the phrase must not be modified by sufficient structure, material, or acts for performing the claimed function; (For example, Claim 9, line 4, "means, attached to said frame for providing a constant load to a user, said means utilizing resilient bands;" should read –means for providing a constant load to a user, said means attached to said frame and utilizing resilient bands--.) or
- (b) Show that the claim limitation is written as a function to be performed and the claim does not recite sufficient structure, material, or acts for performing the claimed function which would preclude application of 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph. For more information, see MPEP § 2181. Since claims 10-12 and 94-99 are in the chain of dependency to claim 9, they too are subjected to the same rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 6, 73, 78-82 and 84-99 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over TW 379572Y. The rejection from the previous office action is incorporated herein (see figure 1 and drawing translation below). Substituting one known resistance device for another would have yielded predictable results and would have been obvious because a person of ordinary skill has good reason to pursue the known options within his or her technical grasp. If this leads to the anticipated success, it is likely the product not of innovation but of ordinary skill and common sense.

4. Claims 77 and 83 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over TW 379572 in view of Olschansky et al. The rejection from the previous office action is incorporated herein. Substituting one known load adjustment device for another would have yielded predictable results and would have been obvious because a person of ordinary skill has good reason to pursue the known options within his or her technical grasp. If this leads to the anticipated success, it is likely the product not of innovation but of ordinary skill and common sense.
